Another case of interest involves Benjamin Franklin, who has reincarnated as Dean Kamen, the inventor of the Segway Scooter. Both Franklin and Kamen can be characterized as inventors with a passion for creating new technology that will benefit humanity as a whole. In addition to the Segway Scooter, Kamen has invented a number of medical devices, including the stent placed in Vice President Dick Cheney's heart.

Symbolically, Kamen founded his first medical company in 1976, the Bicentennial of the United States. He later invented a wheelchair that traverses rough terrain and can elevate the wheelchair user to eye level of a person who is standing. Mr. Kamen named his wheelchair the "Independence" (see <http://www.indetech.com> for more information about Dean Kamen and the Independence)

The case of Franklin/Kamen was solved by Ahtun Re, a spirit guide channeled through Kevin Ryerson, the trance medium featured in a number of Shirley MacLaine's books. Another fascinating case solved in this manner, which can be found in Return of the Revolutionaries, is that of David Rittenhouse/Carl Sagan.

By the way, Benjamin Franklin believed in reincarnation. Dr. Franklin even wrote an epitaph for himself, meant for his gravestone, in which he alludes to a future lifetime. Dean Kamen, apparently, is a revised and corrected form. Mr. Kamen is someone I want to meet and get to know, as a friend.
